DfE definition of 'disadvantaged pupils'

In its statistical first release (SFR) giving revised information on the 2015 National Curriculum assessment at Key Stage (KS2), the Department for Education (DfE) provides a definition of 'disadvantaged pupils':

- Those who were known to be eligible for free school meals (FSM) in any of the previous six years as indicated in any termly or annual census
- Children looked after by the local authority (LA) for at least one day
- Children who have been adopted from care

We recognise that our 'disadvantaged' children face several barriers which impact on their learning including:

- pupils' SEN: a high proportion of PP pupils also have SEN which require specialist strategies to be in place for them to access learning.
- poor language and communication, social and emotional skills.
- a lack of confidence which affects children's resilience in trying and sustaining new learning and new experiences.
- poor attendance and punctuality issues.
- complex family situations that prevent children from flourishing and parents from sometimes giving support with learning (these include: parents caring for other dependents, parents' physical or mental illness, family trauma and families' financial vulnerabilities).
