Not everyone is available all the time. It's not okay to put pressure on someone or make them feel guilty if they need to leave a game.

It can be fun to trade things with other people, but remember not everyone wants to trade all the time and it's okay to say no. Skylab99 has done the right thing here by accepting their decision.

Remember – a trade should always be done using the official trading feature in the game. This will help make sure it happens safely. But you should still make sure that you feel the trade is fair before accepting.

Remember that the age ratings on games are there to help you and your families decide whether you're ready to play them yet.

Someone you live with might give you permission to play on a game, but that doesn't mean everyone else is allowed to or even feels comfortable with the game. It's important to respect other peoples' decisions.

It's important to keep personal information safe online. Even if you have been playing a game with someone for a long time, if you don't know them offline they are still a stranger.

Always tell an adult if a player online asks for your personal information or to meet up.

Then together you could:

- Say no to sharing personal information and move the conversation back to talking about the game
- Decide not to reply at all
- Choose to report, block or unfriend the player.

Sometimes what starts as a joke can still really hurt and upset someone. It's important to think about other people's feelings. If someone asks you to stop or you think they are upset it's important to listen and take time to say sorry.

What does being respectful online look like?

Safer Internet Day 2022 | UK Safer Internet Centre

Being respectful online means:

Including people when they want to be included

Listening to other people

Being kind and supportive

Understanding that someone might not want the same things as you

Thinking about how your words and actions make other people feel

Not putting pressure on someone and accepting their boundaries
